

Understanding Social Value

20th October 2026, 11am to 1pm

Click here to book your place

Social Value is a measure of business's positive impact on the communities and society it serves. In conjunction with Kier, this in-person seminar will explain how social value is derived and measured, supported by real-world examples. We will discuss the PPN 06/20 framework and how this impacts government procurement. Lunch and networking is included.

Places are limited and demand is typically high. To ensure we can accommodate those most able to attend, we ask that you only register if you intend to join us in person. Unconfirmed places may be released to a waiting list.

Heidelberg Materials evoHub,
Techspace,
140 Goswell Road,
EC1V 7DY, London

Easily accessible from Faringdon and Barbican underground stations.

Heidelberg Materials